OLIVE OIL

THE JOURNEY OF OLIVE OIL WITH COSMOPOLITAN

The first olive oil crushing facility in the world located in Clazomenae (Urla, Izmir) at the south coast of Aegean Sea. The city was known for processing olive oil, which has been highly valued for its culinary and medicinal properties since 600 BC. Clazomenae is now home to Cosmopolitan Food Group.

IDA MOUNTAIN

The Ida Mountain is a mountain range located in western Turkey, near the Aegean coast. The olives from Ida Mountain are typically grown on slopes that receive ample sunlight and are well-drained. The region's soil and climate allow the trees to produce olives that are rich in flavor and nutrients. Overall, olives from Ida Mountain are the prized ingredient in Mediterranean cuisine and are highly appreciated by chefs around the world.

CFG proudly produces olive oil from the olives that are collected from Ida Mountain.

OLIVE OIL

FROM

MEDITERRANEAN MOUNTAIN IDA SLOPES

Local farmers pick the olives by hand to ensure the preservation of the oil's delicate flavors and nutritional quality. The olives that are collected from Mountain Ida Slopes are used in CFG's olive oil production. These unique features make CFG differ from other manufacturers.

JOURNEY OF OLIVE OIL

Location:

CFG is located in Izmir, the place where olive oil cultivation began in the world in 600 BC.

CFG conducts the first analysis after crushing directly in the field, in order to ensure the quality control.

Transportation:

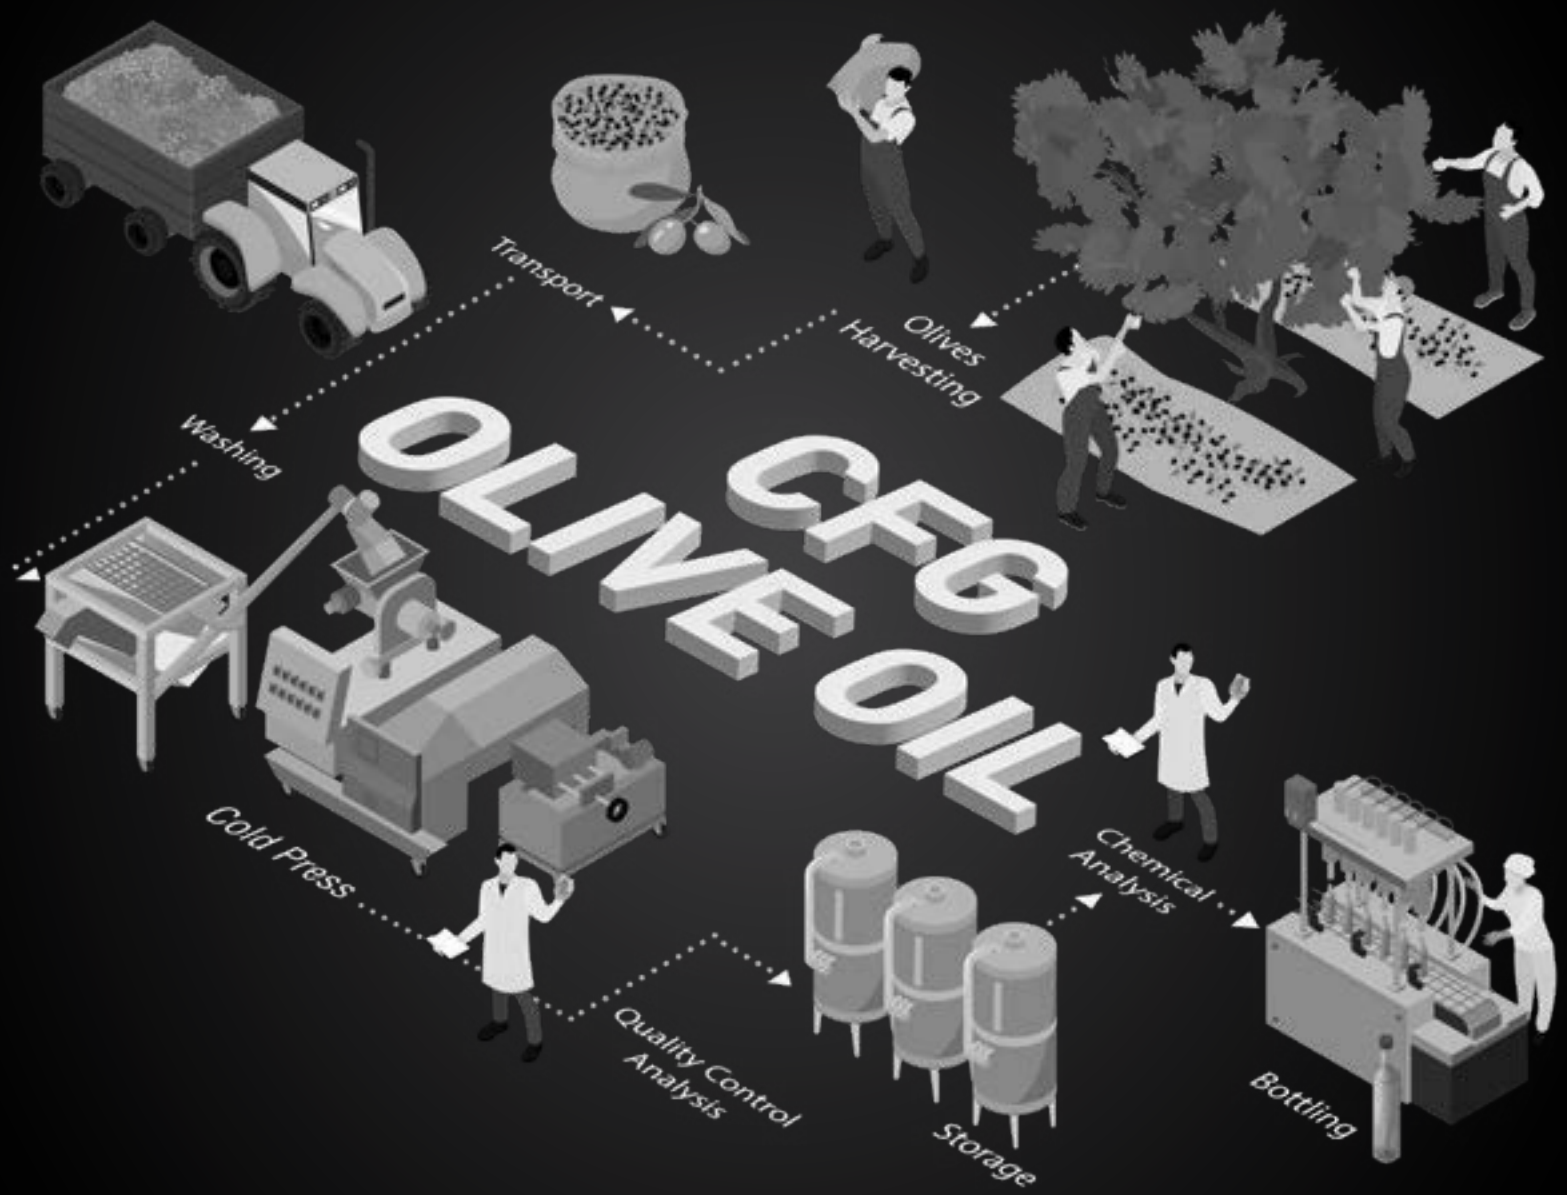

CFG has 10 different collection facilities across the Aegean region. These collection facilities serve as storing and transporting points for the olive oil.

Quality control

CFG conducts quality analysis at its own laboratory in olive oil production facility before transferring the olive oil to its tanks.

Packaging:

The olive oil is bottled with fully automated machines in CFG Olive Oil Filling Facility.
